INDIGESTION

"My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest. I had to be careful what I ate, but after someone had recommended Black-Draught and I found a small pinch after meals was so helpful, I soon was eating anything I wanted. Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."

Clyde Vaughn, 10 Shipway St., Greenville, S. C.
Sold in 25¢ packages.

Black-Draught

WOMEN who are run-down, nervous, or suffer from indigestion, constipation, or other ailments, should take Black-Draught, 10¢ per box.

Stop Night Coughing

Night coughing is almost always caused by an irritated, inflamed throat; so is almost all coughing. Ordinary cough syrups do not reach these conditions, but Thosine, a prescription exclusively for throat troubles, does. It relieves the irritation and the cough stops within 15 minutes. And Thosine goes further too. It eliminates the internal cause which many times develops into serious illness.

A swallow of Thosine before retiring absolutely prevents night coughing and insures a good night's sleep. It gives the same speedy relief for sore throat, too. It contains no chloroform or other harmful drugs and children like it. Relief is guaranteed within 15 minutes or money back, 50¢ and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Grover Brannen Drug Co. and all other good drug stores. (1)

Georgia's money crop is her cotton crop—has been for many years. The total income from cotton in Georgia this year has been approximately $100,000,000. The price paid for gasoline exceeds the total income from cotton, things are out of balance. We shall have to have better prices for cotton to make our incomes equal our outgo before we have prosperous times again. During the year of 1931, Georgia people will have paid forty-one million dollars more for gasoline, or three million dollars more for gasoline than the income from Georgia's total cotton crop. Not to mention tires, tubes and upkeep expenses. And the price of the automobiles still an extra item. These statements are not overdrawn. Actual fact. To be sure, cotton is not the only money crop of the farmers of Georgia. Nor do the farmers buy all of the gasoline. As a matter of fact, the farmers pay for only 10 per cent of the gasoline sold in this state. Just these facts for one's imagination. We now see that our people will buy gasoline and pay cash for it. To equal the burden of taxation in our state, a law needs to be passed relieving all farm property from taxation by the state and have the state collect its taxes from gasoline and other luxury taxes altogether. As it now is, the farmers bear the burden of taxation in an unequal proportion. The only tax imposed on our people that they have any control over and direct its spending is the local school tax. If our citizens should grumble about taxation, it should be in protest against the taxes they pay which they never have a word to say about expending.

If our teachers can make it through the winter on the little income in their hands, a better outlook is not far in the offing. We have an encouraging message from the state department that Bulloch's appropriation will be increased over the present year by several thousand dollars rather than a decrease. Too, we have almost one-half year's county taxes in the state department for collection. With an old surplus due by the state department and with unpaid county taxes for a reserve which will come in some day, we can not see any reason why we should not be able to operate our schools a full term this year. We know we have the promised money to make a budget for a full year's operation. We believe we shall be able to make it through the year with our painful delays. From the equalization fund Bulloch will get $25,000 next year against $10,000 for the present year. At least $15,000 a year. A total of $15,000 for the two years for which this appropriation is made. Bulloch has bought and paid for $17,000 worth of trucks and has but small indebtedness comparatively. Would have a surplus of more than $25,000 if all debts were paid. We know what is due the county. Our cost of transportation has been reduced almost forty per cent by use of county trucks. With proper care, we should solve the question of transportation under our present system. We shall be able to do so, if we get a full co-operation of the trustees and teachers.

A pay roll for Christmas will be dependent upon the payment of taxes by our citizens to make such possible. We want to urge our P. T. A.'s and others to put on a tax-paying drive so that we may be made able to pay one month before the holidays. The income from the equalization fund is used in operating our trucks and for current expenses.

Under the present circumstances, your county board has not made any cut in teachers' salaries or to the budgets to the schools of the county system. Trustees fix the salaries for their respective schools. It does not seem a necessity to make any further reduction in salaries until we see further.

We have not called our teachers together for a county organization so far because of our inability to pay as salaries become due. We feel that having them come would add expense to them that is needless and that would be hard to bear. When we pay, we shall expect the pleasure of the presence of our teachers.

Our schools are at their best right now. Never been equalled before in the history of the school system. This is the surprise of our lives. More than ever before. We are encouraged very much over this year's prospects.

Leefield School News

Leefield has been doing big things during the past few weeks. The P. T. A. through strenuous efforts has raised sufficient funds to attain absolute eligibility for special aid. More than the essentials of these qualifications are being provided. The ladies of the community responded in a most gratifying manner to a hen drive. The men, not being content for the ladies to share all the honors, sponsored a corn drive. Almost every man in the community gave a bushel or more of corn. The returns from these two drives have enriched the P. T. A. treasury considerably and the school is soon to become the recipient of the benefits. The primary department is being renovated and repainted and supplementary readers, maps and library equipment have been ordered.

The intermediate grades directed by Misses Jane Watson and Ruth Lee, rendered a very clever and entertaining program at the last meeting of the P. T. A. A Thanksgiving operetta was the main feature of the occasion. The grades have been making splendid progress this year due to the excellent direction of the two intermediate teachers.

OGEECHEE NEWS

The annual Thanksgiving program was held at the chapel room Wednesday morning. The program was as follows:

Song, "America, the Beautiful," Devotional—Eighth Grade Girls.

"The History of Thanksgiving"—Ellen Moorey.

"The Landing of the Pilgrim Fathers"—Mildred Hagin.

Song—First Grade.

"The Landing of the Pilgrims"—Wallace Lee.

Musical Reading—Mattie Irene Lee.

Song, "Father, We Thank Thee"—Watson Fawcett.

Playlet—Fourth Grade Girls.

Song—Grammar Grades.

The P. T. A. quilt will be finished at an early date and arrangements are being made to begin selling tickets.

Much interest was manifested in the basketball game on Wednesday afternoon. Nevils defeated Ogeechee by a score of 23 to 15. This is the first game the Ogeechee boys have lost this season, having won both games with Warnock.

ESLA P. T. A.

On Tuesday afternoon, November 24th, the patrons and teachers of Esia met and organized a P. T. A. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Royce McElveen; first vice-president, Miss Bonnie Lou Aycock; second vice-president, Miss Myrtle Anderson; third vice-president, Mrs. Ginn; fourth vice-president, Howard Cannady; fifth vice-president, Mrs. Dan Hagan; sixth vice-president, Mrs. Amley; seventh vice-president, Mrs. Roland Lee; secretary and treasurer, Miss Rita Rushing.

A Thanksgiving operetta was given and interesting talks were given by Mr. and Mrs. Carruth, of S. G. T. C., and Miss Lester, of Statesboro.

A meeting will be held Friday afternoon, December 4th, at 3:30 o'clock.

Pedigreed Bulls

At Herdman's Price

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 2.—A dairy bull consignment sale will be held at the White Provision Company's plant on December 10th. Approximately 20 bulls have been selected from the leading herds of Jerseys and Guernseys in North Carolina and South Carolina by Prof. Frank W. Fitch, extension dairy specialist of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, and H. C. Bates, southern field man for the Guernsey Club for this sale.

Each of these bulls will be from cows that have an official production record of at least 600 pounds of butter-fat per year or better, which is approximately twice the average record for the state at the present. Since the object of this sale is to improve the herds, no culls were selected for consignment, but the best bulls that could be found.

Some of the consignors to this sale are J. B. Hardison, Commerce, Ga.; Colonel Plantation, Cochran, Ga.; Peble Hill Plantation, Thomasville, Ga.; Oak Terrace Guernsey Farm and Judge John S. Candler, Atlanta, Ga.; A. H. Barnett, Washington, Ga.; leading herders from North and South Carolina, and others.

Ernest Holmes, of Belfast, was awarded damages for an accident that compelled the removal of his right eye, which had been blind for 20 years.

CANDIDATE FOR COLLECTOR
To the Voters of Bulloch County: After the 1928 primary, at the request of a number of friends I stated in an issue of this paper that I would again probably be a candidate for office of tax collector in the 1932 primary. In an issue of this paper I stated that I will be a candidate and will at some time in the near future make formal announcement.

FOR TAX COLLECTOR
To the Voters of Bulloch County: I take this method of announcing that I will be a candidate for tax collector, subject to the Democratic primary to be held in 1932. Many of my friends throughout the county have urged me to make this race, and I believe my decision to become a candidate will meet with the approval of my friends and the people generally. As you all know, I was unfortunate enough many years ago to lose both of my legs, and I am not physically able to canvass the county as closely as I would like to in soliciting votes. However it will be my purpose to see as many of you as I can in person and to make my appeal to you. I shall greatly appreciate the vote and influence of every registered voter in the county, and I especially solicit the votes of our good women.

Positive Proof of Ford Economy

City of Detroit purchases 137 new Ford cars

Hundreds now in use prove low cost of operation

THESE 137 new Ford cars represent one of the largest deliveries ever made to a municipality at one time.

21 radio-equipped Ford scout cars were traded in on this purchase. They had been operated day and night for two years in heavy traffic and all kinds of weather.

Their individual records ranged from 78,434 miles to 143,723 miles with a grand total of 2,283,097 miles. The operating cost of the 21 cars was 2.284 cents a mile—less than 2 1/3 cents. This cost included all fuel, oil, tires, repairs and every other item except depreciation and insurance.

Of 577 Ford cars in Detroit City service, the 300 in the Police Department traveled a total of 6,591,937 miles during the past fiscal year, at an average cost of 2.9 cents a mile.

Many claims have been made on operating costs, but here in the carefully kept motor car records of the City of Detroit is positive proof of Ford economy.

In the paragraphs above, it is seen that 21 Ford scout cars averaged less than 2 1/3 cents a mile and 300 Ford cars in all branches of Detroit police work averaged 2.9 cents a mile!

Day and night, twenty-four hours a day, these Ford cars are in operation. Few branches of transportation demand such gruelling service. The records show that low fuel and oil consumption is but one of the Ford's many economies. Ford materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing provide unusual strength, stamina and freedom from replacements and repairs.

The individual car buyer as well as the purchasing department of a city or a business cannot afford to ignore the proved economy of the Ford car.

"NOBODY'S BUSINESS"

A DIFFERENCE IN OPINION
A few weeks ago, I took time to interview 6 different persons for the sole purpose of finding out from them just what each of them attributed our present depression to, and here's what they had to say:

1. "Stock gambling started the depression, the tariff bill hurried it forward, and the Republican party's many mistakes have kept it a-going."

2. "The Federal Reserve Bank system has ruined the country, its policy and practice busted us in 19 and 20, and it has continued to hurt us at every turn. That kind of banking centralizes too much power in too few people, and helps nobody except big business—about two-thirds of our banks have busted since the Federal Reserve Bank was created—to save the country."

3. "Why sure, automobiles and installment buying caused the trouble. A blind man can see that. If only 50 per cent of our poor people had bought homes and farms instead of Ford's and Chevrolets, hard times would have had hurt but might have been people. In fact, they would not hurt anybody, as we would not have any depression."

4. "Short dresses, no underwear and thin dresses and rayon underwear, forced the farmers to go bankrupt on account of low-priced cotton. Land has no value unless a man can make a decent living cultivating it, and that is impossible now-a-days. Rotten politics and crooked politicians have also busted misery."

5. "Big Boy, you tell me that old John says that high taxes, waste of public funds, graft, nepotism, school buses, good roads, fine schools, and reckless spending put the country where it is today. Nearly all farm lands are assessed for more than they are actually worth. We need a house-cleaning mighty bad."

6. "Merging of Big Business did its part toward bringing this trouble upon us. This thing of employment of men and women out of employment, and injured us in many other ways. Machinery is also to be blamed for taking the place of hands and brains. The bonus system and the compensation practices now in existence will keep our Federal government broke for many years to come. And it looks like 'Hoover prosperity' is here to stay for quite a while." (Now wouldn't such bunk and ball as this give you the blues too?) But think it over anyway.

A TERRIBLE BLUNDER

We held "Columbus Day" in our town on October 12. That is, the banks held it; everybody else worked. Ain't it funny about banks—they'll close on the smallest pretense of excuse and some of them never open. If other businesses closed as often as our banks close in order that we might celebrate this and that, very few of us could make a living.

This fellow Columbus was no doubt a brave sailor, but I don't know whether it was the best thing to do to discover America. Look at the trouble we are having over here. If he had stayed away from the United States, the Indians would still be in power instead of the Republicans, and I am sure they would not have produced too much cotton and wheat and politicians, and thereby ruined everything.

This would be a fine country if it had never been discovered. We would have snake dances in the place of Hollywood, and war-whoops instead of Rah-rah-rah, and parched corn would be served where salad dressings are now forced upon us. Horses would be more popular than Ford's and wouldn't it be fun to have the scalp of a few legislators hanging out your belt? We would pay our taxes, if any were demanded, with chestnuts, rabbit skins and arrow heads.

I wish I could have known Minnie-Ha-Ha and her dadda Sitting-on-a-Stump. Minnie had 4 sisters and 6 brothers, so I heard at the picture show the other night, as follows: Rain-on-the-Back, Snake-in-the-Grass, Nall-on-the-Hill, and Tiger-Lily. These were the girls, while the boys were these names: Lizard-in-the-Log, Bug-in-the-Soup and Worm-in-the-Pug. They were all fine folks and appreciated nature and deer meat.

The Democrats still think that it would be a good idea to give our country back to the Indians. If that is not done, it looks like the present administration will turn it over to the Bolsheviks, and personally—I'd rather live under the Indians, two to one, than under the Bolsheviks.

Sell-out-the-Woods would make a fine president and Dog-on-a-Mountain could step into Mr. Mellon's shoes to advantage. (These 2 gentlemen are

STATE PRESIDENT SENDS A MESSAGE

GIVES CREDIT TO STATESBORO LADY FOR ASSISTANCE IN P. T. A. ACTIVITIES.

After a month's enforced silence, your president is happy to again take up the parent-teacher reins. Her plans are laid to work more zealously for the P. T. A. and the projection of organization ideals for the children of Georgia. The president deeply appreciates the activities of the "teams" and the individuals during this period of personal stress. The congress has gained immeasurably through this co-operation the part of local leaders. The strength of ten has replaced the strength of one.

Mrs. Guy Wells, fifth vice-president of the congress, represented the president at the six regional Georgia education meets. She has personally addressed approximately ten thousand teachers in the interest of the organization, a feat never before accomplished in the annals of the state. That this effort will bear fruit goes without saying.

Mrs. Lawrence Kelley, of Savannah, new president of the First District, has held her First District meeting. That the work in the First District is on the up-grade is evidenced by an attendance of 1,000 at the "Dada's Night" program at 35th Street school, Savannah.

Mrs. J. S. Hawks, state director of the P. T. A., has held her Second District conference in Camilla. Unusual interest was manifested, and great impetus was given to county organization—the one thing most needed in Georgia at the present time. Upon invitation of Mrs. Harold

EARLY TO BED

There is no more useful and worthwhile citizen in any rural community than that man who goes to bed at dark and rises at dawn. There may be some who are more active in civic affairs—who assist more in the promotion of schools and churches—who keep better posted through reading the papers and magazines—but for real citizenship, give us that fellow who turns in when the hens climb on the roost and who crawls out when the cock begins to announce the approach of day. He may not pay much taxes and he may not be the banker's confidant with his deposits—he may not even own the land which he plows with his oxen and a borrowed plow—but that man who wends his way to his shack at the approach of dusk and who blows out his candles and begins to snore before the ringing of the early morn, that man is our ideal citizen.

The further away he happens to live from the traveled paths, the more useful he is for the purpose he serves. We need more of that sort of men—many more of them—than we have. One at every road crossing and at the desolate spots which are the unfrequented haunts of men. There is little that he can do in his sphere, but the little he does is important. If he is too poor even to own a dog, so much the better—that much more approachable is his place of habitation.

The farmer who belongs to a co-operative has, in many instances, received a good deal better price than the farmer who has done business independently. This is especially true in the case of the dairy industry. Statistics concerning the National League Co-operative Association—a pioneer in the field—and other similar organizations show that, while milk prices are generally low, their members have had a steady market at higher-than-average prices.

The principle of co-operation is the most important economic step for agriculture in many generations. It has been given sanction by practically all interested public officials and farm leaders as being the solution to profitless prices and shifting markets. It is permanent and it is sound. It is something that government relief measures for various government relief measures. It is the means of giving the farmer sufficient bargaining power to meet the organized retail industry, with its great buying power, on fair terms.

And the farmer should have learned this—that co-operation can only be successful if it is carried on all the time—whether conditions are good or bad. He may not like to pay his dues when he has no need of it—but in the long run he will get them back a hundred times over. If farm prices are high, they have only themselves to blame if they face bankruptcy when the down-turn comes.

Tough paper for the manufacture of shipping tags, wrappings and the like is now being made from manila rope waste.

One very serious disadvantage of the machine age for a lot of us is that we have to worry along with last year's model.

COMPETES WITH RAILROADS

The charge that the government has entered the transportation field by making direct contributions from the public treasury, was recently made by J. L. Haugh, vice-president of the Union Pacific System.

Mr. Haugh, "that contribute substantially to the public treasury, and do not participate in free offerings therefrom, are suffering from competition of other transportation agencies made possible through financial contributions from that same treasury."

He pointed out that government-subsidized transportation agencies, including the post office department and the interstate waterways, do not pay either taxes, commercial rates or interest on money invested, or pay for maintenance of roadways or replacement of buildings and equipment, whereas the railroads are

ACHIEVEMENTS IN SAFETY

In spite of the terrible rise in automobile injuries and fatalities, there is a bright side to the accident problem. The organized safety movement—which was 20 years old recently—"points with pride" to such achievements as these:

A steady decrease in accidental deaths to children since 1925, when school safety work was inaugurated on a national scale. During this time accidental adult deaths have increased 88 per cent.

A decrease of at least 30 per cent in fatal industrial accidents in the past 20 years.

A decrease of 28 per cent in the accident rates of 1,600 industrial establishments reporting to the National Safety Council.

A decrease of 19 per cent in accidents involving drivers of trucks, buses and taxicabs in four years.

During this time private passenger cars involved in accidents have increased 37 per cent.

This is fine fruit and the safety workers are to be congratulated. Their main problem now is to find some means of checking accidents on highways and in homes—in the latter, 80,000 deaths occur each year. They are working in the face of great difficulties that can only be removed by individual realization of the fundamentals of accident prevention.

"Bugs" Baer proposed a solution for the Muscle Shoals problem. He suggests that it be cut up into shovels.

Baseball umpires were introduced in 1897, and shortly thereafter necessity mothered the invention of pop bottles.

FARM CO-OPERATIVES

In these hard times the necessity and value of agricultural co-operatives have been proven time and again.

The farmer who belongs to a co-operative has, in many instances, received a good deal better price than the farmer who has done business independently. This is especially true in the case of the dairy industry. Statistics concerning the National League Co-operative Association—a pioneer in the field—and other similar organizations show that, while milk prices are generally low, their members have had a steady market at higher-than-average prices.

It has been given sanction by practically all interested public officials and farm leaders as being the solution to profitless prices and shifting markets. It is permanent and it is sound. It is something that government relief measures for various government relief measures. It is the means of giving the farmer sufficient bargaining power to meet the organized retail industry, with its great buying power, on fair terms.

And the farmer should have learned this—that co-operation can only be successful if it is carried on all the time—whether conditions are good or bad. He may not like to pay his dues when he has no need of it—but in the long run he will get them back a hundred times over. If farm prices are high, they have only themselves to blame if they face bankruptcy when the down-turn comes.

Tough paper for the manufacture of shipping tags, wrappings and the like is now being made from manila rope waste.

One very serious disadvantage of the machine age for a lot of us is that we have to worry along with last year's model.

COMPETES WITH RAILROADS

The charge that the government has entered the transportation field by making direct contributions from the public treasury, was recently made by J. L. Haugh, vice-president of the Union Pacific System.

Mr. Haugh, "that contribute substantially to the public treasury, and do not participate in free offerings therefrom, are suffering from competition of other transportation agencies made possible through financial contributions from that same treasury."

He pointed out that government-subsidized transportation agencies, including the post office department and the interstate waterways, do not pay either taxes, commercial rates or interest on money invested, or pay for maintenance of roadways or replacement of buildings and equipment, whereas the railroads are

FAMOUS FRIGATE RETURNING HOME

AFTER MORE THAN A HUNDRED YEARS "CONSTITUTION" TO RETURN TO BRUNSWICK.

Sea Island Beach, Ga., Nov. 23.—Old Ironsides, which received Boston's cheers more than 100 years ago for putting the American flag on the map, will soon receive the cheers of Brunswick, which supplied her with her sturdy timbers.

The famous old frigate Constitution, dubbed Old Ironsides for the manner in which enemy cannon balls bounced off her hull, resumed a cruise of Southern waters Wednesday and will come to Brunswick December 12 for a three-day stay. Numerous ports along the South Atlantic seaboard will be visited.

The Constitution was one of six war vessels ordered by congress in 1794 to protect American merchant ships from Algerian pirates.

After congress ordered the frigate, the Irish Commodore John Barry was sent to search for timbers. Copies of original letters and contracts recently uncovered in research by Mrs. G. V. Cate, of Brunswick, discloses details of selecting the giant live oak and shipping the timbers at Saint Simons Island.

It was specified that the best possible materials were to be used. The strictest economy was demanded, however, and in a letter from Tenth Cox, commissioner of revenues, to Captain John Barry, October 3, 1794, he wrote, "The live oak of Georgia is nearly ready to depart for Frederica. . . . Here you will permit me to recommend the utmost economy and moderation in all expenditures whether for great or small objects."

Barry was acquainted with Major Pierce Butler, the owner of Hamlet, or Butler's Point at the north end of St. Simons, who was at this time a member of the United States senate, and during his stay on St. Simons Barry took up his residence at Major Butler's plantation home.

After contracting for 50,000 feet of timber at St. Simons Island, Barry returned to Philadelphia and in his report to the Secretary of War, December 18, 1794, says, "Every pain has been taken to procure the most durable wood in the world, the live oak of Georgia. . . . The being of a great saving to the United States as we are well satisfied that their frames will be perfectly sound half a century hence and it is very probable they will continue for a much longer period."

The timbers for Old Ironsides were cut on St. Simons Island and loaded at Gascoigne Bluff, the present site of the Sea Island Yacht Club. From there they were carried to Boston, where the vessel was built and launched in 1797. The first tree felled for the Constitution was an immense live oak at Cannon's Point, whose size and shape made it desirable for use as the stern-post.

There was much jesting about the huge wooden frigate when it first set out to sea. The British ridiculed it as a bundle of logs sailing under a bit of striped bunting and said that a few broadsides from English ships against it would drive the paltry straggling bunting from the ocean. The record still remains that in 42 encounters it was never defeated and never lost a captain.

When the War of 1812 broke out, the Constitution, already the veteran of war service with her commander, Captain Isaac Hull, sought to join the New York squadrons. The Constitution was cut off by a British squadron, but after a chase of three nights and five days outmaneuvered the squadron and escaped it. Days later, off Cape Race, she encountered the Guerriere, a member of the British squadron, and after an engagement of less than 25 minutes won the contest and lifted the infant American navy on an equal footing with the British navy in the world and England suffered the greatest defeat she had ever known. Hull hailed the Constitution into Boston to receive the wild acclaim of that port.

When Old Ironsides, reconsecrated for the fourth time in 1925, 125,000 yards of sails and drops her 5,400-pound anchor in the port at Brunswick on December 12 it will literally be a home coming for the famous wooden war horse, some of whose original timbers may be seen through the hull of the broad room of the ship, and she will receive one of the loudest welcomes since she returned triumphant to Boston Harbor from her encounter with the Guerriere in the War of 1812.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank each and every person for every act of kindness and word of sympathy to us during the illness and death of our dear son and brother. May God bless each and every one of you. We also thank the good people for the beautiful flowers given.

MRS. J. J. GILMERY and FAMILY.

Co-operation and unity of action among leading Georgia business men and agricultural leaders, it is believed, will usher into Georgia a new era of growth and development, the results of which will surpass all previous records.

One of the paramount objects of the committee will be to exploit Georgia's opportunities in poultry, livestock, diversified produce, fruits, forestry and other lines which have been sadly neglected for years. It also is the purpose of the committee to make cotton a strictly "cash surplus crop" and at the same time advance the state to its deserved position as a health, educational, recreational and industrial center of the New South.

Georgia already has expanded its industrial position materially, having an industrial out-turn of more than $700,000,000, against approximately $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 agricultural return. The January meeting will terminate in appointment of committees and sub-committees which will formulate definite plans to promote Georgia's golden opportunities.

The committee already has a membership of between 400 and 500 representing the "cream" of Georgia's ablest leaders in both rural and urban communities.

Co-operation and unity of action among leading Georgia business men and agricultural leaders, it is believed, will usher into Georgia a new era of growth and development, the results of which will surpass all previous records.

FARMERS TO STUDY

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL FARMERS' WEEK TO BE HELD IN ATHENS NEXT MONTH.

Athens, Ga., Dec. 7.—"The Use of Land" will be the theme of the twenty-fifth annual Farmers' Week and Marketing Conference to be held at Athens, during the week January 25-30, according to announcement issued today by Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president, Georgia State College of Agriculture.

A recent study made by the specialists of the college shows that, in spite of the serious financial and business depression affecting all peoples of all professions and occupations throughout the world, the farmers of Georgia are meeting this serious and distressing situation relatively as well as other farmers and much better than most people engaged in non-agricultural enterprises, stated Dr. Soule in commenting on the purpose of this coming farmers' conference.

The careful efforts made in the past to find alternate and supplementary income producing commodities for the Georgia farmers, have resulted in putting us in better financial position to meet this world-wide commercial upheaval than we would have been if our farmers had maintained themselves on a purely commercial cotton program.

This will be the regular series of meetings and conferences that have been held each year for the last twenty-five years, that is, since the reorganization of the Georgia State College of Agriculture in 1907.

Each year agricultural workers and leaders have gathered at their state college of agriculture to set up objectives, formulate farm programs and establish policies from the best constructive rural thought obtainable. From these discussions and conferences have emanated more efficient practices in growing crops, raising live stock, and the marketing of farm commodities. Since these gatherings have been productive of direct benefits to the farmers of Georgia in the past, it is certain that the need for them will not only be greater this year because of the present distressing financial situation of our farmers, but also for the reason that there is a standard interest in new undertakings and new enterprises among farmers generally.

A dynamic plan for holding these meetings will be followed. Each morning, except Saturday, will be devoted to round table discussions of agricultural programs and policies related to the use of land. These discussions will be led by outstanding and experienced Georgians and will be devoted to specific problems of general interest. An hour a day has been set aside for a general assembly where short talks will be made by public and private leaders of the state.

The afternoon will be given over to divisional topics and will be in charge of the heads of the subject matter divisions of the college and those in charge of the extension and vocational education work of the state. These divisional meetings will be held in the departmental buildings and laboratories, giving to those attending the twenty-fifth annual Farmers' Week and Marketing Conference an opportunity to make direct contact with specialists in, and get specific information about agricultural economics, marketing, agricultural chemistry, agricultural engineering, agronomy, farm management, animal husbandry, dairying, forestry, horticulture, poultry, husbandry, rural education, veterinary medicine, soils, and home economics and child welfare.

A special program for the women is being arranged by the home economics workers in which health, conservation of farm resources and the economics of consumption will be emphasized.

This series of meetings is open to all those constructively interested in the discussion of our farm problems and the finding of practical solutions needed at this time.

Olliff In Race
For Re-election

In today's issue will be found the formal announcement of B. R. Olliff of his candidacy for re-election as county school superintendent. Mr. Olliff has held the office for many years and has discharged the duties with an energy and efficiency which has made him strong with the voters.

First elected twenty years ago, he has held continuously except for one term when he retired voluntarily. Naturally his efficiency has given him his experience in handling the affairs of the office. Whether he will have opposition for re-election remains to be seen. There has been some little discussion of the possibility of two others, W. W. Jones and S. D. Alderman, for this office. So far as it is known neither of them is considering the matter seriously.

NEW CHEVROLET
WIDELY HERALDED

MORE THAN FIVE THOUSAND NEWSPAPERS OF NATION CARRIED ADVERTISING.

Featuring the most comprehensive announcement program ever used by the Chevrolet Motor Company, 5,355 leading daily and weekly newspapers in the United States introduced the new 1932 Chevrolet Six last week.

In addition to newspapers, the program profited for the use of radio, poster panels, photograph records, canvas banners, dealer window displays, and several other media.

First news of the new Chevrolet was flashed in telex manner by 25,000 postmen in towns of 15,000 population and over. The posters, with a total length of 113 miles, comprised a showing 50 per cent larger than any manufacturer in any business has ever staged. The posters were paneled on November 28, and for one week their message was "Keep Your Eye on Chevrolet."

The next news of the new Chevrolet came over the air. On the night of November 29, the company began a week of spot broadcasting over 168 stations. "Keep Your Eye on Chevrolet" was the theme of the radio program.

On November 30, also Chevrolet dealers decorated their windows with telex displays. The material for these displays was a part of 76 tons of promotional matter mailed by the Chevrolet Motor Company. Included in this tonnage were eight square miles of silhouette cardboard, 30 linear miles of canvas banners and 1,100,000 label buttons.

On the morning of December 2nd, telex photograph records, bearing nothing more than an address and a name, were mailed to 1,280,000 Chevrolet owners in all parts of the country. The message on the record informed them that a new Chevrolet was on the way.

Further radio announcements, of course during the week, were made over 151 stations on the nights of December 2, 3 and 4.

Then on December 5, the 5,355 newspapers printed the announcement of the new 1932 Chevrolet Six, the 25,000 posters were changed accordingly, and the public was thronging its way to dealers' showrooms.

A&P Dance Gypsies
Next Thursday Night

On their program, Thursday, December 17, at 10 p. m. on the NBC-WJZ hook-up, the A&P Dance Gypsies play "Dream" a tango. Harry Horlick, the leader of the Gypsies, bought the sole rights to this delightful melody when he was in Argentina studying the tango. In the balance of the program, Adelle Starr, the guest artist for the evening, alternates with Frank Parker in singing well-selected popular melodies of today. This program is especially designed and executed for those who want music "sweet and lovely."

A&P Concert Gypsies
Appear Monday Night

The A&P Gypsies, under Harry Horlick's direction, offer in their concert program of Monday, December 14, at 9 p. m. over the NBC-WJZ network, a well-balanced, variety filled group of melodies. Adelle Starr, who, while a comparative newcomer to radio, is creating a sensation, and Frank Parker, the tango, are the vocalists. Harry Horlick and his orchestra play Hejje-Kati by Hubay. This Hungarian traditional melody opens with an andante. Mr. Horlick playing the violin cadenzas and, as the movement progresses to a typical Czardas, the entire orchestra lends full-throated support. Charles "Rhapsody Espanola" a tango by Gade, "Jealousy," Greig's "Norwegian Dance No. 2," St. Saens, "The Swan," and Carrie Jacob Bond's "I Love You Truly" make this program an international one, and particularly outstanding.
